Madison or Bust!

SEMA Action Network Hits the Road With Hot Rodders From Across the Country

If you ever wanted to take a 1,200-mile road trip with 2,000 of your closest friends, then this is the event for you. In its 14th year, the Hot Rod Magazine Power Tour draws hobbyists from across the country on an exciting trek through the heartland of America. Leaving from the Arkansas State Fairground in Little Rock on June 7, the highways will be filled with hot rods as the tour visits seven cities in seven states before pulling into the Alliant Energy Center in Madison, Wisconsin, on June 14.

"I look forward to meeting with countless SAN members who stop by the SAN booth in front of the Hot Rod bus throughout the event," said SAN Director Jason Tolleson. "Whether they are in for the long haul or just stopping by at one of the events along the way, it's great to connect with those who help drive the SAN and its legislative efforts."

For information on the event, visit www.hotrod.com.

Leaded Fuel Ban on Hold for One Year

Environment Canada Delays Restriction on Leaded Fuel for Competition Motor Vehicles

The Canadian Department of the Environment has delayed action for one year on a proposal that would terminate the current exemption from environmental restrictions for leaded gasoline used in competition motor vehicles. Under the revised regulation, the exemption will remain in place until January 1, 2010.

The extended period will allow all racing events in 2008 and 2009 to proceed while providing time for regulators to conduct further studies on the health risks of leaded fuel use at race facilities. The last study of this type was conducted in 1997.

In 2006, competition motor vehicles comprised only 1.5% of all leaded gasoline consumed in Canada. The aviation industry, which owns a permanent exemption from the ban, accounts for the other 98.5%.

In their announcement, government officials highlighted the significance of the economic impact a leaded fuel ban would have on race tracks, local and racing-affiliated businesses. With an estimated 165 racing facilities across Canada, the closure of these facilities would also have a negative effect on restaurants, campgrounds, motels and other small businesses.

“While this is just a temporary reprieve, it does provide an opportunity to further educate regulators on the vital role the racing industry plays in the Canadian economy,” said SAN Director Jason Tolleson. “The additional time should provide ample opportunity for the development of a fair policy that will balance the interests of the racing community and the economy with any environmental concerns.”

A special thanks goes to the National Association of Antique Automobile Clubs of Canada Corporation for mobilizing their membership against this short-sighted proposal.

CAUCUS CORNER

Each month Driving Force will feature members of the State Automotive Enthusiast Leadership Caucus. The SEMA-supported caucus is a bipartisan group of state lawmakers whose common thread is a love and appreciation for automobiles.

Here are its newest members:

CALIFORNIA
Assemblymember Joel Anderson

CALIFORNIA
Assemblymember Felipe Fuentes

NEW JERSEY
Assemblymember Gary Chiusano

* For a full list of Caucus members, visit www.semasan.com.

LEGISLATIVE QUICK HITS

Delaware Street Rods: SAN-supported legislation to exempt street rods from the state’s regular safety inspections was approved by the Delaware State Legislature. Under an agreement reached with state regulators, the registration and titling process will be changed administratively to allow street rods to be assigned a registration and titling designation bearing the same model year that the body of the vehicle resembles. The bill next moves to the governor for his signature and enactment into law.

Kentucky Project Titles: Pro-hobbyist legislation to create classic motor-vehicle project titles was approved by the Kentucky State Legislature and signed into law by Governor Steve Beshear. The SAN-supported law applies to vehicles at least 25 years old, not road-worthy and currently without a title or with a title from another state. Under the law, a classic motor-vehicle project title would prohibit the use of vehicles bearing these titles on the highway but, once restored, a regular title could be issued.

HEY, THAT'S MY CAR!

Show 'Em What You've Got!

Whether it has been handed down through the generations, an ultimate barn find or a vehicle that just needed your own personal touch, the SAN would like to give you an opportunity to share your passion for your car and truck with the rest of the automotive hobby. A vehicle will be selected each month to be featured in Driving Force, as well as on the SEMA Action Network website.

To submit your photo and story, visit www.semasan.com and click on the "Hey, That's My Car!" link on the homepage (the SAN will contact you if additional photos are needed). Please e-mail Jason Tolleson at jason@sema.org if you have any questions or need assistance with uploading your images.

My journey began when I found the vehicle at a neighbor's yard sale. I have always loved older cars and wanted one of my own, so when I saw it, I decided it was finally my time.

I have always had a thing for AMC cars, including my latest toy—an '80 Spirit AMX. My connection with AMC began in 1969 when I met an AMC employee in Cleveland, Ohio. Needless to say, I was hooked right from the start.

After our children moved out of the house, my wife decided that I needed a project to keep me occupied. She came to the conclusion that a '69 Ford Mustang would be the best way to keep me busy and give her some peace and quiet at the same time.

Street Rod/Custom Vehicle Legislation Roundup

SEMA has produced model legislation to create titling and registration classifications for street rods and custom vehicles, including kit cars and replicas. Under the SEMA model, eligible vehicles are titled as the production year they most closely resemble, are required to meet the equipment standards for that model year and are exempt from periodic vehicle inspections and emissions inspections. For updates on a particular state, or to download a copy of the bill, visit www.semasan.com.

Washington: Enacted in 1999. Portions based on SEMA model.

Idaho: Replica vehicle portion of SEMA model enacted in 2008.

Oregon: The SAN worked with the Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) to adopt new state regulations that will exempt newly built street rods, custom cars, replicas and assembled vehicles from the state's mandatory emissions-inspection program.

California: Enacted in 2001. Allows 500 specially constructed vehicles each year, including kit cars, to be held to the emissions standards for the model-year that the body of the vehicle represents.

Hawaii: Enacted in 2004. Portions based on SEMA model.

Nevada: Replica vehicle portion of SEMA model enacted in 2007.

Montana: SEMA model enacted in 2005.

Wyoming: SEMA model to be reintroduced in 2009.

Colorado: SEMA model enacted in 2004. Based on SEMA model, kit cars are exempted from the state's emissions-inspection program.

Kansas: SEMA model introduced in 2008.

Land of 10,000 Lakes? Try 13,000 Street Rodders!

In working with the SEMA Action Network over the years, the MSRA has been very successful in having hobby-friendly legislation enacted, including the adoption of the Street Rod License Plate; an ethanol mandate exemption for collector vehicles; a law permitting the use of blue-dot taillights; and an exemption for collector vehicles from a bill that establishes the California emissions requirements in Minnesota.

To inform and gain additional support from enthusiasts, the Legislative Committee will be on hand at the "Back to the '50s"

Extravaganza (see show information on p. 6) later this month. All these efforts ensure that street rodding will be around for a long time in Minnesota.

As it proudly states on their website, "MSRA is still about Friends, Food, Fun and Fellowship...but most about having fun with cars! So lean back and let's go cruisin'!"

In what most certainly left a lasting impression on lawmakers, more than 70 street rods were parked across the lawn of the State Capitol Building during the MSRA "Run to the Hill."

Kudos to Colby

We at the SEMA Action Network take great pride in putting together Driving Force. This issue is no exception, as SEMA's own Colby Martin put his artistic talents on display through the first-ever illustrated cover of Driving Force. Over the years he has designed several creative items for the SAN, including the artwork on the SANT-shirt, which he illustrated at the ripe old age of 17.

CLUB SPOTLIGHT

Land of 10,000 Lakes? Try 13,000 Street Rodders!

Since its founding in 1967, the Minnesota Street Rod Association (MSRA) has worked hard to ensure the future of automotive hobby in the North Star State. With the original 12 members meeting at a pizzeria in Minneapolis, the MSRA now has over 13,000 members worldwide. Their annual Back to the '50s Show attracts more than 11,000 cars and more than 100,000 spectators.

Through all of this, the MSRA has always kept its focus on building good relationships with state lawmakers and regulators. For the last 15 years, the MSRA Legislative Committee has organized a "Run to the Hill" to inform legislators at the State Capitol on how the pending bills they are considering will impact the hobby. In years when there are no pressing issues, MSRA members use the event as an opportunity to educate lawmakers about the organization. These relationships are of great benefit when support is needed on an issue that may cause problems for the hobby.

With their annual "Run to the Hill" the Minnesota Street Rod Association has become a powerful in protecting collector cars hobbyists in the North State State.
